Time for Community

The Irish Language Communities Scheme provides funding for community committees throughout the island of Ireland. Through this scheme, Foras na Gaeilge creates a network of community-based Irish language development officers who work under the direction of local Irish language committees.

These officers have a facilitation and networking role, as well as duties relating to the development of other bodies to promote Irish in the community.

Through the Language Planning Process, Foras na Gaeilge is responsible for developing 5 Irish Language Network communities/areas and 13 Gaeltacht Service Towns subject to regulations in the Gaeltacht Act (2012), as well as other major Government initiatives.

Did you know that Foras na Gaeilge provides funding for the Irish language Lead Organisations who work in the community sector: Conradh na Gaeilge, Glór na nGael & Oireachtas na Gaeilge?

A wide range of other grant schemes are administered for Irish language centres, for community radio stations and for Irish language print and online media.
